Welcome to LPS

Lloyd Preparatory School (LPS) is an independent private school serving students in Grades 6–12. Our small-school approach combines personalized instruction, academic accountability, mentorship, and a supportive learning environment.

Whether your student seeks greater academic challenge, individualized attention, or a fresh educational start, LPS provides structure and guidance to help them move forward with confidence.

What makes us different

- Small learning environment. Enrollment is limited to 30 students annually, with no more than 15 onsite at one time.
- Personalized learning. Instruction responds to each student's strengths, needs, and goals.
- Clear expectations. Consistent effort, responsible conduct, and academic progress matter.
- Mentorship. Students build communication, leadership, and decision-making skills.
- Family partnership. Parents receive regular updates and direct communication with school leadership.

How learning works

LPS uses a flexible hybrid model combining in-person instruction, online learning, and independent coursework. Individual schedules are reviewed with families before enrollment.

Learning format	Planned schedule
In-person instruction	Two days per week
Online instruction	Two days per week
Independent coursework	Scheduled assignments and approved courses

In-person instruction is planned for the Delray Beach Public Library; arrangements and schedules will be confirmed with families. Students may also take approved Florida Virtual School (FLVS) courses. Families provide transportation for onsite days.

A plan for each learner

Each student receives a Student Improvement Plan (SIP) that identifies academic strengths, learning goals, and support strategies. Existing IEP or 504 documentation is considered when applicable. Progress is reviewed regularly.

Tuition has been reduced by 30% from the school's previous published rates. Program placement and final tuition are confirmed during enrollment.
